

International Students

LEARN FROM EXPERIENCE

CityU business programs give students a chance not just to study business in the classroom but acquire practical skills and experience. Our faculty work and consult for some of the world's top companies, which gives students opportunities to learn from real-world business experience and case studies, not just from theory and research.

Seattle is one of the world's most globally connected cities, with many international companies based in Seattle – including Microsoft, Amazon.com, Starbucks, Expedia, and Boeing – and is one of the most livable cities in the United States according to Forbes magazine.
