Right to work up to 20 hours per week

- Anyone studying on a Student Visa during their pathway programme at the ISC are entitled to work.
- This allows students to work for a maximum of 10 hours per week during term-time for any course below degree level (foundation and IY1 programmes) or 20 hours for any course at degree level (PMP), and 40 hours per week outside of term-time. This is the maximum hours in any one week, including paid or unpaid work and for one or more organisation.
- The main purpose of this visa route is for students to come to the UK to study. Where a student is permitted to work, the intention is that this should be an opportunity to gain work experience in their field of study.
- At our ISC, we want our students to become confident, self-aware, highly skilled and extremely employable graduates. Study Group's CareerAhead activities are designed to give students a head start, and the paid/voluntary working rights open more doors for our students to further improve their employability skills.

Make Yourself at Home in Sheffield

This is Sheffield feat. Shauna Coxsey – YouTube

A welcoming city, at the heart of the UK.

A community-focused and friendly cultural hub in the north of England, with the Peak District on the doorstep, Sheffield has plenty to experience.

Famous for its creativity, Sheffield's music, art and film communities are bustling with activities. Or, with over 60% of the city a green space, and the Peak District a short journey away, there are lots of places to hike, climb or have a picnic.

The cost of living in Sheffield is the lowest compared to other student cities in the UK*, alongside a range of student discounts, low-cost accommodation and leisure costs, making Sheffield a very affordable place to live.
