Your study options

We offer a wide choice of generalist and specialist degrees at undergraduate and postgraduate levels. We also offer pre-degree pathway programs and English language programs.

Not all courses are offered at every campus — for more information, see table on pages 34–45 or visit utas.edu.au/courses

English Language Programs

Whether you want to improve your English to qualify for further study, or to enhance job opportunities, or just to build your language skills, we have a program to suit you:

- UTASAccess-Direct Entry is designed for international students intending to enter an undergraduate or postgraduate degree at the University of Tasmania who do not yet meet the University English language entry requirements.
- UTASAccess-English is designed to meet the needs of a broad range of English learners. Whether you need to improve your skills for further study, career, travel opportunities or just out of interest, a UTASAccess-English course can provide you with the necessary tools for effective communication.

International Pathway College

If you would like to embark on an undergraduate or postgraduate degree but don't yet have the academic skills to do so, the International Pathway College can provide the skills and knowledge you need to successfully progress to further study. For more information, see page 26.

Associate degrees

An Associate degree in a two-year university qualification that focuses on practical study. Designed in consultation with local industry, it will equip you with the real-world knowledge and skills required to step into a specific industry. You will also gain valuable transferable skills needed to navigate your career into the future.

Undergraduate

An undergraduate degree is typically a three-year, full-time course. In addition to face-to-face classes, we also offer distance study options for some courses to international students based outside Australia. For many courses there is a range of units available over the summer, spring and winter breaks.

Many of our courses are accredited and professionally-recognised by industry and professional bodies in Australia and abroad. Professional recognition of degrees in areas such as accounting, engineering, business, IT, law, health or education is necessary to work in these fields and graduating with a University of Tasmania degree in these fields allows you to pursue rewarding careers in these professions.

Double or combined degrees

Double undergraduate degrees merge the core requirements of two different degrees. This lets you graduate with the equivalent of two undergraduate degrees faster than it would take to do two separate degrees.

Double degrees can give you greater depth of knowledge in more than one field and multidisciplinary skills. This gives you more career options. If you're academically capable and want to challenge yourself, a double degree is an ideal way to get the most from your time at our University.

Honours

Honours can help you gain deeper knowledge in your specialist undergraduate area. The additional honours year can mean you start your career higher up the ladder and progress in your career faster.

It can also lead to postgraduate study and a career in research or academia.

Ben Arthur, former IMAS PhD student
now Adjunct Researcher.

Macquarie Island,
Tasmania.

Master's by coursework

Postgraduate degrees vary in duration and offer a variety of exit options including graduate certificates, graduate diplomas, and master's. Depending on the course you choose, your master's by coursework degree may be by coursework only, or a combination of coursework and research.

Many of our postgraduate coursework programs are accredited and professionally-recognised by industry bodies in Australia and abroad. Professional recognition of University of Tasmania master's degrees in such areas as accounting, engineering, business, IT, health or education enables you to take your careers to new heights.

Higher Degrees by Research

Postgraduate degrees by research (master's or PhD) are known as Higher Degrees by Research (HDR).

Prospective candidates considering an HDR should have previous undergraduate or postgraduate qualifications including a substantial research component or project.

If you are interested in studying an HDR, visit utas.edu.au/GR
