

STUDY IN THE NETHERLANDS

NHL Stenden is an internationally accredited university of applied sciences. We pride ourselves on the way we guide our students, encouraging them to discover their talents and helping them develop both their professional and personal skills. Our innovative educational concept and dynamic global network means students work on real-world issues, giving them a head start in their careers. Based in the north of the Netherlands, NHL Stenden welcomes students from over 90 countries each year – and offers opportunities to study and work all over the world.
